Q.1)

Ethics is a set of Moral principles, as a practice it is a set of do's & don'ts that guide our conduct. Whereas, as a study it is a branch of Moral philosophy.

Ethics helps in leading a Moral life as it helps in decision making situation where moral character has two choices such that any one choice will compromise at least one moral values. For instance, Vibhishan's "Dharma - Sankata" situation where he has to choose between Ram & Ravan

↳ If he choose Ram = Loyalty to Kith & Kin is compromised

(In Indian society, it is considered above kith)

↳ If he choose Ravan = Righteousness will be compromised.

Thus, one can conclude that ethics helps us to take right decision at in Dilemma situation thus helping to lead a conflict-free & Moral life.

Q.2) Ethics (E) is a set of moral principles widely accepted by the society. Whereas, Morality (M) is the individual notion of right & wrong.

Difference b/w Ethics & Morality

Ethics

- Originate outside ^{the} self & is often externally imposed
- Public & Social
- Relatively easier to codify
- Deals with the conduct of a person
- More objective
thus easy to codify as compared to (M)
- Ethics is a conduct of person in public space

Example

Morality

- Arise from within
- Private & Intimate
- Difficult to codify.
- Deals with the character of the person.
- More subjective in nature
as it is an individual sense of rt. & wrong.
- Morality becomes an individual character.

① Politician accepting Bribe = Considered as unethical in scope of public ethics. If same politician having an extra-Marital affair then it is in scope of Private ethics / Morality. Some people may think it is his private affair thus does not affect the public at large.

② Homosexuality - It is still outside the accepted moral norm of the society. But for some individual it is natural as well as ethical & it is completely moral, it's not a question of morality.

Thus, ethics and morality are two wheels of a chariot which goes hand in hand / together. Their separation is inevitable for the smooth movement of the chariot.

Q.3) ^(L) Laws are codified ^(E) ethics with legal sanction. whereas ethics are a set of moral principles accepted by society. Both ^(L) & ^(E) regulate behaviour and conduct of individuals / groups / institution.

Differences b/w (L)/(E)

LAW

- ^(L) has element of coercion
- fear of punishment by state
- State sanction
- It is a set of Don'ts

ETHICS

- ^(E) has an element of persuasion from family & society.
- No fear of state action
- fear of inner guilt / Social ostracisation
- Appeal of conscience
- Consist of Do's & Don'ts.

Conflict

→ Laws reinforces societal ethics.

ex: Rt. to equality

- Rt. to Education

→ Laws may cause to develop societal

ethics.

Ex - Hindu Succession Act

Girls in property rts. in paternal house

Law will come first than society will develop ethics eventually.

→ Cases of social Morality

↳ ex: Decriminalizing of Homosexuality
- Maternity & Paternity leaves

Thus, whenever there arose a conflict between Law & ethics one should go for middle path where one should submit to the law by not breaking it and at the same time oppose the laws through 3Ps (Protest, prayer, petitions).

Q.4)

Business + ethics → Business ethics

Business ethics refers to the relationship b/w business objectives, practices, technique & the good of society. Where, ethics are a set of norms that aim to guide our conduct in right direction.

- Business is the skill / competence of an individual that / org. that determined the success of any Business.

The Above graph states :

- ① Quadrant ① consist of peoples with very High Competence (C) / skill & Low Ethics → such type of people are Most & dangerous for any business / org. because :-

- i) erode Moral fabric of org. / business
- ii) Pollute work culture
- iii) threat to public reputation of a business
- iv) Reduce the group output

② Quadrant ②: Highly competent & highly ethical people - they can take any business to a greater height. these are most desirable persons.

③ Quadrant ③: Highly ethical people, even though low in competence / skill - these people are also beneficial in any business as they are more loyal towards the business & skill can be inculcated by training.

④ Quadrant ④: Person with low ethics & low competence, these are least desirable workforce for any business as they are neither good at competence / skills nor ethically strong to the org. / business.

Hence, ethics and business are not irreconcilable, as both are directly linked to each other. Business can be made more ethical by employing persons from having high ethical standard as well as competency. Also, proper management training is required.

Q.5)

Politics refers to the range of activities that are undertaken with the purpose of capturing power to rich the rules that governs us.

Whereas, Ethics as a practice, is a set of do's & don't that guide our conduct. It is a set of moral principles.

Ethics → Ethos / Ethikos → habit / character
(Greek word)

Politics undertaken by politicians reflect their character by the type of politics they do.

Politics - a source of ethics

↳ When something wrong happened in politics, it become general ethical value of society.

↳ Society will look at politics and imbibes value from there.

ex: Person doing Massive horse trading kias Bharthiya Rajneeti ka chanyaka

Therefore politics become source of individual society

Politicians - virtuous persons

↳ Ethics to be derived by looking virtuous person.

↳ Therefore, politician should speak the truth, pursue non-violence & work for the welfare of its people, etc.

Principles to be followed by politicians in Politics

According to Immanuel Kant something is good is everybody rationally agreed that it is good

1. Kant gave four principles that need to be followed by politician for ethics and politics to go hand in hand.

1) Principle of universality → Politicians should act in a manner such that their action can become a general law for the individual people to follow.

2) Equality principle → The universal law thus created should be equally applicable to all including politician himself without exceptions.

3.) Humanity first principle → People must be treated as an end in themselves & not as a mean.

4.) Duty principle → Politicians should perform their duty with full righteousness. If something is done for reasons such as fear or reward then one has not acted in a Moral way.

Thus, based on above text one can infer that ethics and politics can go hand in hand. History has shown India is blessed with highly virtuous politician like Mahatma Gandhi, Lal Bahadur Shastri etc. who being the greatest leader of their times ^{was} known for these virtuous qualities like integrity, high ethical values, probity, and their moral & political attitudes known for social influences & persuasion.

- Q.6) There are two school of Moral philosophy; Consequentialism / Teleological ethics which says that morality depends upon consequences of an action, means are not important and more good the outcome, more moral is the action.
- The other one is Deontological approach, said some actions are correct irrespective of bad consequences while there are other actions that are wrong irrespective of good consequences. It argues that means are more important than ends.

Consequentialism

It argues ends are more important and based on the end objective divided into three

Challenges

- More concerned with actual outcome, does not take factor in motive, so it may support the action that are done with Mal-intention but have good outcomes

- Measuring goodness of outcome is in itself challenging.
- Different time periods produces diff. results
- Makes society unpredictable
- Difference b/w intended & actual outcome
- Does not account for the fairness of outcomes whose "goods" to measure is debatable.
- Does not support global human st.
- Disregard actions that are good in themselves.

Deontological approach

- Does not concerned with consequences.
- Promotes 'Duty approach' / perform your duty.
- Morality is not contingent with consequences, Morality depends upon the means adopted
- Ex: stealing is always bad - even done for life saving purpose

Immanuel Kant of Deontological School of Moral Phil. argued that what is morally good can be found by applying reason. Therefore no need to look to consequences to decide the morality of an action.

As per the above stated moral philosophies it can be argued that there's a need for 'Middle path' / 'Madhya Marg' b/w consequentialist & Deontological school of philosophy (or) to choose b/w means & ends. As both means and ends have equal importance at any circumstances, hence, middle path should be encouraged & not the extreme level of either side.

Also, there's a need to go for Paulin's principle when stuck b/w means & ends. Paulin principle states action is moral under two conditions:

- i) Bad consequences < good consequences
- ii) Bad consequences should not be the primary intention.

Thus by following middle path & Paulin's principle one can overcome the dilemma of more importance b/w means & ends in real life situations.

Q.7) God based ethics is the ethics where God has the legitimacy to make ethical rules. fear of punishment from God exist among masses if ~~not~~ ethical principles are not followed. GBE brings uniformity in social & cultural practices. It works as a glue & bind the society.

GBE challenges

Problem of Intermediating

↓
because individual does not know what god said

↓
so depend on intermediaries like holy texts / Priests

Religious superstitious

Society governed by irrational thinking

Instead of Rational, logical, Scientific thoughts

Religious fundamentalism

- Believes in sanctity of religious text
- Refuse to believe - Religious text are open to interpretations
- Believe in literal translation of text
- Believe doctrinal compromise already been made
- Believe Religion is in threat & need protection

God's not necessary for Ethics

Arguments

- ↳ Atheistic Atheist people:- still they live morally consistent behaviour
- ↳ Buddha, Jains: Came up with strong moral philosophy without need of God
- ↳ Constitution: Regarded as the highest source of ethics, secular in nature.

Other problems / challenges of GBE

① Give rise to Euthyphro problem

Is something good / moral because God says so or God says something to be good because it is originally good.

② God > Good

↳ Good is dependent on God

③ morality become contingent on God

④ As many God, as many moral principles

⑤ No agreement on what is moral among followers of same God

⑥

- ⑥ Little place for secular Morality
- ⑦ Run's counter to constitutionalism
- ⑧ lead to problem of fundamentalism

↓ further lead to decrease / reduced tolerance among individuals, increase violence and justified fear

Thus, God based ethics not only have limitations but creates more problems than it solves. Despite, numerous criticisms, limitation, CBE binds the society just like pearls in a string thus enrich the cultural ethos of Indian society.
